For over 15 years, I have worked closely with Commerce Press for consistent, superior offset print quality marketing collaterals.

When I was a Senior Art Director with a technology focused advertising agency, there was a high demand for superior quality materials to be produced and Commerce Press always delivered and surpassed our expectations.

In my current role, there is even a higher demand for time sensitive, high quality print materials to be produced. There are a wide range of customers that range from Pharmaceutical to Banking with many different business needs.

Commerce Press has consistently delivered and we have had glowing reviews from our diversified customer base. I am pleased to work closely with Commerce Press as they are not only a printer. They are a highly trusted advisor that exceeds my expectations with each project we partner in.
